

AMNH BridgeUp:STEM is an educational initiative generously funded by the Helen Gurley Brown Trust that is focused on the intersection of computers and science. BridgeUp:

STEM organizes after-school programs for high school girls and underrepresented youth, provides research fellowships for women scientists, and organizes the museum's hackathons (Hack The Universe and Hack The Dinos). | Designed & illustrated by: Megan Learn, meganplearn.com